Alexander in actively prosecuting this great work, which will be He has engaged a number of the shipwrecked sailors of the late Arctic fleet, which will increase his gang now at work on the ditch to about one hundred men, and there is every prospect of its early and successful completion. He expects to avoid a number of miles of ditching by crossing ravines in wrought iron pipes of about thirty inches in diameter. The ditch will probably carry water sufficient to irrigate from one to two thousand acres of land, and the lower western slopes of Haleakala from a matter of a doubtful two and a half tons per acre. to a uniform and certain five tons per acre, raising and by the Enciondia, and any not have any vessel in he the receipts from $375.00, to $750.00 per acre, as I on Monday by the P. M. S. S. Australia from a visit to New Zealand, brought with him a bull and a stallion which are the handsomest creatures of the kind we have ever seen in this country. The bull years old. We quote the following in regard to him from volume four of the "New Zealand Herd Book." "Royal Butterfly, roan, calved, October 1, 1874, bred by Mr. G. Bell, Walmen Plains, Southpromises to develope into a magnificent horse. His me is Spreydon and he is a son of one of the finest of New Zealand studs-Traducer. He, also, is of the adopted child of deceased. the purest blood, his pedigree running back to cclebrated English stock. His points are almost perfect, and no lovers of good stock can see him without genuine admiration. Spreydon cost two bundred guineas, and the bull one hundred and twenty-five, in New Zealand, and the cost of bringing them up has been about $500. Every one bringing improved breeds of domestic animals into the country is a public bunefactor, and should receive all possible encouragement. In fact, it would not be too much for the Government to offer a premium upon all such importations, by the payment of one balf of all expenses incurred.

THE PHILADELPHIA CENTENNIAL EXHIBITON.-The Centennial Exhibition at Philadelphia has brought together such an assemblage of the products of American industry as to impress the visitor with a strong sense of the manufacturing activity of the United States. In every department of mannfacture the United States are creditably represented and the practical result seems to be that in the United States we have now powerful competitors in all branches of lodgetry, and cepecially in that which we considered our own-the iron trade. Such a state of affairs deserves the attention of Englishmen. It presents to us important lessons, and in studying them we should learn not to resign ourselves to a permanent exclusion from the markets in which the United States manufacturers compete with us, but to estimate more justly the conditions on which business must be conducted in the future. It may be that the American manufacturers, who have to a great extent, with the aid of protective duties, shut us out of their native markets, will be found competing with us in other countries. But English manufacturers are not afraid of competition in an open market. If they are not handicapped by their relations with their own workmen, or by duties specially imposed to exclude them, they court compurison of their goods with those produced in any other part of the world .- English Paper.

We record with great regret a most melan choly incident which occurred at Walkiki on Monday last. On that day, the scholars of St. Alban's College with their parents and friends were entertnined at a picuic by Mr. Atkinson, the principal of the College. During the forenoon, some of the boys went to bathe on the beach, and after playing together, were about to leave the water, when one of the lads named Chenery, when barely breast high in the water, was seen to double up as though attacked by cramp or spasms. One of his compan ions instantly took hold of him, but he was nearly drawn under the water, and called for belp. Two other lads, soms of Major Wodehouse, immediately went to their assistance, and with great difficulty and bravery brought the lad Chenery to shore. Although be had been taken out of the water almost instantly, the symptoms were sufficient to show that he must have been attacked by a fit of some kind, and though every possible effort was made to restore animation, the poor little fellow did not breathe again. A foreigner, whose name was not sacertained, rendered great assistance, and for an bounded of Barbard Chewery, Bey of Sen hour and a half all that could be done to bring back respiration. THE DROUGHT still continues unabated, and streets are ankle deep with dust, and in many places are filled with dust-holes, making driving anything but agreeable. The thermometer during the past few days has indicated rather cooler weather than has prevalled for two or three months back, bu there is still sufficient warmth to make one sigh for winter. As we go to press, it looks as though a rumor that the Pacific Mail Service was about to be abandoned obtained currency in Sydney. It the bark and the steamer were also presented with happens to have originated in the knowledge that the City of San Francisco was to leave for San Francisco on the 18th, whilst the City of New York was to take the mails on the regular day, a week later, though it was not understood what provision has however, that the despatch of the City of San Fran cisco is the result of a belief that the contractors interests will be better served by having the spare known here to warrant the supposition that a break | Lower Store and all accounts due to their Nauanu Stree is imminent. The New Zealand Government has Store must be paid to Mr. S. L. Lewis at said store or a giving up the forked service, and baving a direct one by way of Anckland and Honolulu, with a reduction of $7,000 in the New Zesland share of the subsidy. If this change were carried out, three deamers, it is said, could work the service. We ent to alter the contract without reference to Parlis nent. But whether the contractors would be willing, with the consent of New Zesland, to make the change of route on their own responsibility, laking the changes of approval from our side afterwards, is another question. Meanwhile, there is nothing to show that the service is in danger of being disc tinued .- Sydney Mail.
